4	Dear Anthony,
	Thanks for your e-mail.
	I think more people are working after retirement age these days because they are healthier and more active than in the past. Many elderly people can still contribute a lot to society.
	Many people move to the countryside after retiring, but I don't think this is a good idea. Retired people have lots of free time, and there are more cultural activities such as concerts and museums for them to enjoy in cities.
	I believe discounts for senior citizens are necessary. Most senior citizens have little money because their only income is from their old-age pension.
	Write again soon!
Mai
